

Movies on the Run

It's now in the open

As exam time hits Bangalore, producers know better than to release big movies. But there were a couple of releases that are not to be missed. 'Split wide open' has been receiving rave commentaries even before it was released not just because it is out of the beaten track but also because of the rare star cast and the theme.

Starring Rahul Bose and the smashing Laila Rouass, the movie is about demystifying sex in its various forms. Nothing kinky, vulgar or dirty about the movie. It deals with various aspects and the gravine is that Bose has delivered a riveting performance. It's a bilingual movie by Dev Benegal, and coming from the Benegal stable, one can expect it to be classy.

Not really so well laid Among the other English releases this week is the movie 'Best laid plans' a thriller about missed opportunity and regaining one's path. It revolves around the main character who want to test the limits of their morality.

If it's David Dhawan, it has to be fun Here's the next course from the house of Dhawan - 'Dulhan hum le jayenga'. If the TV promos are anything to go by, then the film is bound to be a riot like only his films can be. Starring hunk Salman Khan and the gorgeous Karisma Kapoor, makes for an enjoyable viewing. And hey, don't forget the popcorn.
